

We've set the standard for workforce compliance

Hoo Ha Bar

Combining fresh local food and drink in a relaxed, industrial-inspired atmosphere, Hoo Ha Bar is the latest venture to grace the burgeoning South Brisbane scene. Passionate about good-quality produce, the cafe-meets-bar has been in creation for 18 months and opened their doors in late March 2013.

As a newly established business, the owner of the Hoo Ha Bar Anthony Lindenmayer believes that WorkPro's web based Work Health and Safety Hospitality Inductions are fundamental to the development of their new staff. "We are finding that our employees are happy to undertake the safety induction, as it takes about 30 minutes, they can complete it at their convenience and because its hospitality specific, they found it to be informative and engaging."

"Using WorkPro has meant I've been able to mobilise our workforce quickly, reduce staff engagement costs and comply with Australian WHS legislation – and its enabled me to dedicate my time and financial resources to other areas of the business."

WorkPro is proud of our relationships with the hospitality industry to deliver and manage fundamental employment related processes; ensuring candidates can be employed rapidly, whilst being thoroughly screened.

For more information about WorkPro, visit www.workpro.com.au or call 1300 975 776